

TLB Performs at Konocti's Classic Concert Showroom

Fog rolled across the stage as TLB's Jordan M. suddenly appeared behind his drumset and began the new rockin' beat of "Time". Moments later Matt W. leapt from the darkness to his keyboard, bringing with him an adventurous classical rock sound that filled the room with a sense of awe & wonder. Just as it felt like the heavens would open, enter bassist Thomas C. ethereally posed on a platform against the back-lit fog downstage left with his thunderous bass. Momentum gave way to the click of the drumsticks, "ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR" and the spotlights raced to the back of the room where all eyes turned on lead-singer Beau B. nailing his opening guitar rift to a surprised and applauding audience. Without missing a beat, he ran through the crowd and deftly jumped the stairs to join his band center stage. A dramatic new entrance ... for a dramatically new Lost Boys!

Their performance was the culmination of an intensive 4-day Christmas Rock 'n Roll Workshop hosted at Konocti Harbor Resort & Spa, where the Boys had the privilege of training, rehearsing, writing, re-writing and refining their band skills. From finding their 'niche' and genre of music, to developing their image and honing their stage presence, the Lost Boys got the education of a lifetime through a process of team building, critique sessions and motivational talks. Inspiration gave birth to a new song during the weekend that they boldly performed on two acoustic guitars "...it doesn't have a name yet...", and the result was a diamond-in-the-rough just waiting to be discovered.

The Lost Boys would like to humbly thank Greg Bennett and all the staff and family at Konocti who so graciously opened their doors and hearts for this once-in-a-lifetime experience. "This has been the best weekend of our lives", signed the four boys as they gifted Konocti with a commemorative photo of the 'new' Lost Boys that is soon to join the Wall of Fame in the halls of the Resort. "Somebody pinch me," said one of the Boys, as the others just nodded and agreed, "It feels like we're living a dream." And a dream come true at that.

Also thanks to Mike Hanson & all the crew at Pegasus Productions for their professional filming of the show...you guys are the best!!!

The next workshop, "Rock Shop II...CHASING THE DREAM!" is scheduled for the last weekend in January '09, with a performance scheduled for Sunday, January 25 at 7pm (see Upcoming Shows). Hope to see you there...and thanks for being a beloved friend and fan of The Lost Boys!
